

No. of Mantras.	Page
4.—Expiation for the destruction of the oblatory articles at the second offering,	442
5.—Ditto for the dropping out of burning charcoal from the altar,	443

SECTION III.

Substitutes for the sacrificial fire, &c.

1.—Alternative when the sacrificial fire cannot be produced in due time ; (ordinary fire),	446
2.—Ditto if ordinary fire is not obtainable ; (the oblation to be poured into the ear of a goat),	447
3.—The milk of such goat not to be drunk,	ib.
4.—Alternative in case of a goat not being available ; (the oblation to be put in the right hand of a Bráhmana,	ib.
5.—Ditto in case a Bráhmana be not at hand ; (the oblation to be poured on a heap of kus'a grass),	ib.
6.—Ditto if the kus'a grass be not obtainable (the oblation to be poured on water),	ib.
7.—Eight rice cakes to be offered if the sacrificial fire of one should get mixed with that of another or with an ordinary domestic fire,	448
8.—Eight rice cakes to be offered on the completion of the ceremony at the end of a year,	449
9-12.—Explanation of the mantra to be recited should the cooking pot become leaky, while in use,	ib.

SECTION IV.

Mantras to be recited by the Yajamána in course of the Ishti rites.

1.—Mantra for sanctifying the vessel called pranítá ,	451
2.—Mantra to be repeated when putting fuel on the fire,	ib.
3.—Ditto when collecting palás'a twigs,	452
4.—Ditto for sanctifying the cooking pot,	ib.
5.—Ditto for putting yeast in milk for curdling it,	ib.